

AL-HUDA SCHOOL

WHERE GUIDANCE IS PART OF THE CURRICULUM

MISSION

Al-Huda School is working towards empowering the Ummah¹ by developing students who will become well-rounded individuals spiritually, emotionally, and physically who then will be capable of dealing with today's challenges through the knowledge and implementation of the Qur'an², Sunnah³, and through academic excellence.

BELIEF STATEMENTS

Al-Huda's School's teaching philosophy is firmly ingrained in the Islamic belief of inherent goodness in human beings and in their ultimate duty to submit to the will of Allah. Therefore, Al-Huda School considers its mission and responsibility to nurture and carefully develop its students into persons who engage in practices that are centered around strong Islamic principles, moral values, and religious beliefs.

Al-Huda School believes in providing quality education, to instill a love of learning in the students, and to graduate students who will not only practice Islam as a complete way of life, but who are also leaders in their practice toward their families and communities. Al-Huda School believes in the shared responsibility in shaping the hearts and minds of the young souls. Based on this, our aim is to have our students exemplify excellent character towards parents, teachers, peers, and the community at large.

Al Huda School strives to create an environment that encourages the development and flourishing of an Islamic identity. Furthermore, the school is the foundation upon which we hope to build a living Islamic community that adheres to the Qur'an and Sunnah.

² Qur'an: the Holy Book of Muslims

³ Sunnah: the traditions of Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him)
